The Chrisagis Collectibles "Good News Toys" (For Kids)

The Chrisagis Bros' are charismatic, charming, people magnets. Who themselves are no strangers to many well-known celebrities. The dynamic artistic & creative duo have enjoyed much more than just '15 minutes of fame'. The Bros' have traveled extensively throughout the U.S. & internationally for the last two decades. The Chrisagis' Ministry is not only for the adults but for all ages world-wide.

15 years ago the brothers

had a popular children's TV show called The Good News Network, which won many awards and later they went on to do their own comedy / variety show for the family that ran all over in syndication. In their latest venture, the twins have skillfully recreated replicas of their well-known, well loved puppet characters. These characters for decades have stolen the affections of both the young and the young at heart alike. Adorable in their own right, these highly prized toy collectibles have already stolen the hearts of all who have come within sight of them. The purpose of these adorable cuddly toys is to help children develop life skills and good values. These values & character building skills transcend divisions of race, politics, gender, religion, & economic boundaries. They are: honesty, charity, patriotism, self-worth, giving honor to God, and knowing you are a Masterpiece specially made. It makes sense to train up a child in the way he or she should go while they are young and when they become old they will not depart from it, teaching them right from wrong, good against evil. After all what is the purpose of a good education, good direction, and what are education, coaching, and child-rearing supposed to be about? We need our children to grow into people who can live healthy, happy lives of purpose, as well as working well with others through the skills of cooperation. The commitment of the Chrisagis Collectibles is to make plush toys, videos, and books that teach these great character building skills. Making a difference in children's lives, as well as impacting the entire family. Young people desire consistent role models that do what they speak. Which is so different from the world and Hollywoods values of only speaking and doing something we do not want our children to fall into. The Brothers toys strive to build a sense of value that seems to be some what lost in our society today as a whole. These values are worthy promotion. The Chrisagis Brothers use the Bible as a road map to teach basic Bible Principles, such as the Ten Commandments and other basic foundations that our country and families were founded on. The Brothers give action to everything that is taught, to be truly effective. Families can trust the Chrisagis Brothers & their Products to be consistent and effective for the entire family.
